

Talk and discussion

The Climate Crisis and Civil Disobedience

Gianluca Grimalda, social scientist with an expertise in climate change, was fired by the The Kiel Institute for the World Economy after refusing to fly home from a research trip in Papua New Guinea. In this talk he is going to discuss his experience with civil disobedience, his trip back to Europe and the role of academics in the climate crisis.

10 May 6PM

Rachel Carson Center, Leopoldstraße 11A
4th floor conference room

DECOLONIAL PRACTICES GROUP